Oilers or Bruins fit well: Hall

HOCKEY Hall is home. At least that's what headlines might read come June 26.

In reality, Memorial Cup winner Taylor Hall was in Edmonton Thursday, meeting with Oilers brass, getting a physical, and checking out his potential future home for the hockey season. Hall said either the Bruins or the Oilers would suit him just fine come draft day.

"It took a while for people in the gay community

Police seek another five in Thai worker's death

Det. Bill Clark

Police have arrested two men and charged one of them with second-degree murder in connection with last Sunday's slaying death of 37-year-old Apichat Sudsaneh, a foreign worker from Thailand.

Michael John Stewart, 21, has been charged with second-degree murder, robbery, possession of a weapon, and three breaches from Newfoundland.

Kyle Anthony Brooks, 18, has been charged with robbery and assault.

Homicide Det. Bill Clark says a pair related to the case were arrested after police pulled over one of the suspects who was driving a vehicle near 96 Street and 107 Avenue Tuesday.

"With some keen questioning, and some phone calls made to our office, we were able to identify our first suspect," said Clark.

"There could be more charges on the way, but we're also looking for more witnesses."

But police say they are still looking for five other "persons of interest" who may be connected with the murder.

Three images of two males and three females were released to the public Thursday. Police say the images are of the five people homicide detectives are looking for.

"We're not necessarily looking at them as suspects at this time, but we need to talk to them to find out how they are involved," said Clark.

Motorcyclists roaring over noise bylaw

JEFF CUMMINGS
for Metro Edmonton

Some motorcyclists are revved up with anger after city council voted in favour of a bylaw this week that makes it illegal to ride a bike that's louder than 96 decibels.

Council voted in favour of the bylaw Wednesday night that will soon see noisy motorcyclists facing a $250 fine for each offence.

Ray Rozon, a service manager at Harley Davidson Motorcycles of Edmonton, says city council is "segregating" motorcyclists since loud noises don't always come from motorcycles.

"I am not going to change how I ride my bike," said Rozon, who has been an avid motorcyclist for 38 years.

"If (the police) are going to give me a ticket over this, I will just have to fight it... I've told others to fight it.

"This is totally unfair with what the city is doing here."

Dave Thiele was the only councillor who voted against the plan because, he says, the bylaw discriminates against motorcyclists, but police say it doesn't have the equipment to test the other vehicles.

Edmonton's police service has reportedly purchased eight sound meters to enforce the bylaw.

City cops are expected to begin cracking down on noisy motorcyclists along Whyte Avenue, Groat Road, and Jasper Avenue sometime next month.

Kris Gorda, a service adviser with Harley Davidson Motorcycles of Edmonton, said cyclists in Edmonton must now consider to keep their machines stocked, or purchasing accessories that muzzles noise.

"You also shouldn't act like an idiot on your bike," said Gorda. "Like trying to rev up your engines along Whyte Avenue, or cruising through the suburbs where it's usually supposed to be quiet."

Aboriginal history month launches at city hall

CULTURE With singing, dancing and banging drums, the celebration of Aboriginal History and Culture Month launched at the legislature yesterday.

"We have a tremendous opportunity in this province to really understand, to respect and to celebrate the contributions of all of the people of the First Nations," said Ken Kowalski, speaker of the legislative assembly and honorary chief of the Alexis First Nations.

Speaking at the legislature rotunda as host of the event, he invited the public to celebrate and honour the culture and heritage of First Nations, Metis and Inuit people not only during this month, but all the time.

"When we work together, we win together," said Chief Rose Laboucan from the Driftpile First Nations.

"I don't want to be the leader of the people that are on the streets and are homeless. I want to be the leader of a people proud of its heritage, proud of their nation."

Adrian Lechance performs yesterday at the legislature to kick off Aboriginal History and Culture Month.

"But we need your understanding and your patience to make this happen," she added, thanking the non-aboriginal people present at the event.

The highlight of the month will be the celebration of National Aboriginal Day on June 21.

News in brief

PLANNING The City of Edmonton has now released a final draft for the new Downtown revitalization plan. Based on several years of public consultation, the plan aims to stimulate economic and residential growth in downtown Edmonton by enhancing transit and intensifying development. The plan previews that in the next 20 years the number of people living in the downtown area will double from 11,000 to 24,000. During a public hearing on Monday, June 21, the final draft Capital City Downtown Plan will be presented to city council for approval. ANDREAS MORSE

About 120 athletes and 18 Olympians will be in Edmonton this weekend competing for qualification for the Commonwealth Games and London 2012.

The inaugural Edmonton International Track Classic takes place at Foote Field on Saturday starting at 6:30 p.m.

"We've been trying to position an international meet for the last number of years," said event chair Peter Ogilvie. "This will be one of the highest level of competition, if not the highest level of competion, just under our national championship so it's a very big meet."

Many of Canada's top track stars will compete in pole vault, hurdles, sprints, shot put, and a five-kilometre run. Ogilvie said the meet will feature a who's who of the international track community and the meet itself will continue to grow.

"This is a yearly fixture now on the Canadian sport calendar and more importantly on the Edmonton sport calendar," he said.

For a complete track schedule visit www.edmontonclassics.com. Tickets are $10 at Tix on the Square.

Carline Muir from Edmonton will be competing in the 400-metre race this Saturday at Foote Field.

Serving with pride

The armed forces no longer has a specific policy for gay and lesbian members, and some uniformed personnel march in Pride parades.

Almost 20 years since 'don't ask, don't tell' abolished

JON TATTRIE
for Metro Canada

In the past 20 years, the Canadian Forces has gone from being a homophobic organization that actively hounded out gay and lesbian members, to one of the world's leading advocates of open integration.

Rana Sioufi, a spokeswoman for the Forces, says after abolishing the don't ask, don't tell policy in 1992, the armed forces no longer has a specific policy for gay and lesbian members and uniformed personnel regularly march in Pride parades and marry in base chapels.

"Members who are same-sex partners are entitled to the same respect and dignity as heterosexual married couples or common-law partners," Sioufi says.

That's a long way from the treatment Michelle Douglas received in 1989. She complied with the secretive policy by not revealing she was a lesbian, but the Special Investigations Unit kicked in the closet door. Douglas was interrogated on the suspicion she was gay and ultimately dismissed on the grounds that she was "not advantageously employable due to homosexuality."

"It was a very, very different time," the Toronto woman says. "There was a sense that gays in the military were somehow tantamount to criminals. It was a really sad approach."

Douglas fought back in court and her action led to the Forces abandoning don't ask, don't tell in 1992. That paved the way for rapid change.

"It was a very unpleasant experience at the time ... but in the end, Canada did the right thing, and I'm very proud of that," she says.

That experience is being studied carefully south of the border, where U.S. President Barack Obama is poised to repeal the don't ask, don't tell policy U.S. armed forces installed in 1993.

Halifax resident Jennifer Paty saw its effects first hand during her sparkling 20-year career in the U.S. Navy, which ended in 1994. The second she was out of the forces, she came out of the closet and has since fought hard against the policy.

"It was such a betrayal," she says of the policy she believes forces people to lie about who they are and who they love. "It was heartbreaking."

Paty, now a minister in the Safe Harbour Metropolitan Community Church, hopes the U.S. can follow her new home's example.

CFB Edmonton

- Matthew Malek, board chairman of the Edmonton Pride Week Society, doesn't recall ever seeing uniformed personnel from CFB Edmonton in the Pride Parade. "I think it just hasn't happened. We don't really reach out to (the Canadian Forces), but if they were wanting to participate, we would not have any problem with having them in the parade," he says.
- The Edmonton festival is celebrating its 30th year in 2010 and is including official participation from the Edmonton Police Services.

Celebrating three decades of Pride

ANDREAS MORSE
andreas.morse@metronews.ca

the city for the next 10 days.

The city will be partying with pride for the next week as Edmonton 2010: A Pride Odyssey will be celebrating 30 years of bringing the gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender community together.

From June 11 to June 20, the city will be covered in rainbows, pink feathers and festive crowds. There will be dancing in the streets, drag shows, and of course, a parade to end all parades.

"There are 65 parade entries this year compared to 54 last year," said Colleen Sutherland, a spokesperson for Pride Week and president of Womonspace, a group for lesbians.

This year's parade marshal will be Team Edmonton — a group of gay people who organize team sports for the entire community. The parade itself starts on Jasper Avenue and 108 Street and winds up at Churchill Square.

"It's best to be on the south side of Jasper Avenue for the best views," Sutherland said. "It's important to note that the parade starts at 1 p.m. this year, which is an hour earlier than previous years."

Events celebrating the spirit of camaraderie, honour, pride and respect will be happening throughout

Events like the Big Queer Dance-A-Thon (Friday, June 11 at the PRISM Bar and Grill), Celebration on the Square (Saturday, June 12 at Churchill Square after the parade), and a Queer History Bus Tour (Monday, June 14 at the Citadel Theatre), to name a few.

Sutherland said Pride Week has been happening in Edmonton for the past 30 years, but she's really seen the growth over the past five years. "Speaking from a personal point of view, being gay is certainly easier than it used to be," she said. "Doing what I'm doing now for the Pride Week Society, I probably wouldn't have done five years ago just because I'm a mother and I have kids and it wasn't as socially acceptable to be out."

Now that the acceptance is there, for the most part, Sutherland said even the straight community is catching.

"The straight world has jumped on board because they're realizing there are going to be probably about 28,000-30,000 people at the square or at different events throughout the week," she said. "What a better way to advertise than to get into a parade for free with a market of about 25,000 down at the square."

The Edmonton Pride Parade takes place Saturday.

Warawa said the project helps students understand "the importance of helping one another."

Report calls for more transit funding

SERVICE Administration is urging city council to spend roughly $7.5 million more each year for the next three years to keep up with growing demands for Edmonton's bus service.

A report going to city council's transportation and public works committee meeting Tuesday suggests that roughly 124,000 hours of more service is required to address the growth in ridership and improvements to service.

"While Edmonton Transit Service staff reassigned bus service to high-capacity routes and it received some addition to the operating budget, there is still a shortfall," said the report. Administration says the figures will address 73,000 hours of service deficiencies caused by over-crowding and new service needs, something that has grown this year, they said.

The high court dismissed appeals Thursday brought by news organizations that argued judges should have the final say on pretrial publication bans.

Observers say it's a setback for media organizations that were trying to loosen the restrictions on pretrial reporting in the age of the 24-7 news cycle.

The World Cup work dilemma

Jeff Cooper is one of the lucky ones.

As head of marketing for Adidas Canada, one of six global sponsors of the FIFA World Cup, he's expected to watch at least part of the games while at work.

But for many other soccer fans, it's going to be tricky catching the games live during the work day, when most games will be played, especially if you work in an emergency services such as policing or health care.

Studies show absenteeism soars during special events such as the Olympics and the FIFA World Cup, which involves at least six hours of play a day for the next 30 days.

Because of the seven-hour time difference, in Canada most the games will be broadcast live and streamed online during the work day, starting at 8 a.m. MST Friday with the opening match between South Africa and Mexico.

CBC plans to replay the most popular games during prime-time evening hours. But for die-hard fans, it's not the same.

So what are the options? Some may resort to calling in sick while others may try to secretly watch the games on their desktop computers, a trend dubbed "virtual absenteeism."

And while technically you can get fired for playing hooky, especially if you've got a bad track record in that area, most employers will be lenient during special events, legal and employee benefit experts say.

"If somebody's been a model employee, only minor discipline would be appropriate. A reprimand or a warning," said Brian Smeenk, a Toronto lawyer.

"If the person has a record of unauthorized absences, more serious discipline would be appropriate, up to and including dismissal."

Gearing up for the 3-D revolution

TECHNOLOGY Put on those specs, couch potatoes — 3-D is poised to revolutionize TV, say industry players who will be touting the technology at the Banff World Television Festival this weekend.

The advent of 3-D TV will be a key focus of the annual industry conference, where heavyweights including Brit comic Ricky Gervais, reality show titan Nigel Lythgoe, and Canadian icon William Shatner will share their thoughts on the future of the small screen.

The four-day festival kicks off Sunday with a session outlining the nuts-and-bolts of 3-D production.

Action, not initiatives, needed

UrbanCompass

Terence
Harding

I guess we're going to have to change the signs that announce Edmonton as a "City of Champions." It's not because we haven't won anything recently, but because city council has declared that Edmonton is a "City of Learners."

For Edmonton to trumpet itself as such I guess there must be other cities where people are just self-satisfied dolts who are letting myriad learning opportunities pass them by. That makes me kind of sad.

This new initiative can be added to the other initiatives we have on the go. Quick now, how many can you name? Did you identify the Great Neighbourhoods Initiative or Racism Free Edmonton? How about the Edmonton Urban Aboriginal Accord Initiative? Maybe you could only identify the Edmonton Community Drug Strategy or Responsible Hospitality Edmonton. If you got all those and added the Expo 2017 bid to the list, you get bonus points.

Edmonton may not be able to figure out how to fix its sidewalks and potholes or how to get snow off side streets in the winter, but it sure can come up with initiatives that may or may not make you happy to live here.

Those of you who follow the machinations of our civic mavens may remember when we were touting ourselves as a "smart city." Apparently, we were smart enough to realize that what made us a "smart city" made just about every other major city on the planet one as well.

Coun. Don Iveson is the chair of the Edmonton Learning City Initiative. He explains it this way, "We have outstanding learning opportunities in our city, but we need to help more people take advantage of them. When we all embrace learning in our daily lives, it enhances our role in the community, our performance in the workplace, as well as our personal development and physical well-being."

It's hard to argue with that kind of saccharine mom-and-apple-pie statement. But is embracing learning in our daily lives really going to make this city a better place to live?

Or would we be a much better city if we learned how to stop being so dependent on automobiles, how to stop turning farmland into subdivisions and how to keep innocent citizens from being stabbed on the street?

Like most of the visions of Edmonton we have heard about over the years, this one looks more like a hallucination.

Worth mentioning

Women bigger flirts than men: Survey

You're at a funeral. You spot someone hot. What do you do?

The heck with grieving. You strike up a conversation, said 55 per cent of women and 45 per cent of men in an online flirting survey. And some would go even further: More than one-third of the men and about one-fifth of the women would ask the hottie out — while still surrounded by mourners.

Although the survey didn't delve into favourite funeral pickup lines — "My, black becomes you" — it did reveal some surprising gender gaps: Women tend to flirt more than men, but men show more expertise and technical flair.

"I would have expected the women to beat the men in general flirting and in quality, but I guess I'm biased," said Ilona Jerabek, president of PsychTests AIM, a provider of psychological assessment products.

The Montreal-based company conducted the online flirting test just for fun, said Jerabek. The survey attracted 3,200 participants, 1,181 male and 2,019 female, ages 15 to 70.

To lure a member of the opposite sex, men's most tried-and-true technique is leaning in while talking. Women's saucy strategy is looking deep into a guy's eyes, according to the survey.

As for types, more women tend to be flirty flirts, simply having fun, anytime, anyplace, with anyone. More men are the singleminded attention-for-sex types, what the survey calls "carnal flirts."

They both turn on the sexual charm for practical gain. For instance: To get out of a ticket, 11 per cent of men would flirt shamelessly with a female police officer. Ditto for eight per cent of women with a male police officer.

To get a better deal on a car, 20 per cent of men would rev up the randi-ness with a female sales agent — and six per cent would even date her to knock down the price. Ten per cent of women would toss the hair and bat the eyelashes for a male sales agent.

When it comes to flirting, both sexes are far from honourable. Thirty-six per cent of men and 31 per cent of women said they'd intentionally set off sparks with someone at a bar just to make their girlfriend or boyfriend jealous.

Geithner taken to task over China

U.S. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner, left, faced a barrage of congressional complaints Thursday over what critics said was the administration's failure to take a tougher stance on Chinese trade issues. One critic said if China does not move soon to allow its currency to rise in value against the dollar, Congress is likely to pass legislation that would impose tough trade sanctions on China. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

News in brief

BRAZIL A man accused of imprisoning his daughter for 12 years and fathering her seven children called their relationship consensual Thursday, while a second daughter told authorities she was abused by her father and bore him a son. Police say Jose Agostinho Pereira, 54, could face up to 30 years in prison for allegedly keeping one of his daughters and their children in subhuman conditions in a two-room hut in an isolated, jungle area in northeastern Brazil. In a jailhouse interview, Pereira remained defiant about the accusations that he had seven children with his 28-year-old daughter. "It's a crime, I know it's a crime. But she was also committing it," Pereira said.

Judge approves 9-11 settlement

A U.S. federal judge signed off on a legal settlement Thursday that could pay as much as $713 million to 9-11 responders exposed to World Trade Center dust, and immediately urged thousands of police, firefighters and construction workers to take the deal.

U.S. District Judge Alvin Hellerstein gave his enthusiastic endorsement to the proposed package just three months after sternly rejecting an earlier plan that would have put less money into the hands of workers who got sick after breathing the toxic ash.

He said months of non-stop negotiations had produced a pact capable of ending the seven-year-old case, which pitted New York City officials against thousands of men and

90 days to decide

• The settlement's success is still highly in doubt. Under the terms of the agreement, 95 per cent of the 10,000 workers involved in the case must opt in for it to be in effect. They must choose quickly. The agreement gives them only 90 days to make up their minds.

women hailed as heroes for their service at the trade centre.

The new proposal would add roughly $125 million to the pot, and include bigger payments for people diagnosed with cancer, an illness that hasn't yet been linked to the dust, but is perhaps the most feared among the workers.

Kris Sonnenberg, 38, left, sits with her eight-year-old son Mike, 17-year-old daughter Elise, and 12-year-old son Charlie in their backyard in Chicago. Kris is considered to be a member of Generation X and Elise is Generation Y. Mike and Charlie may end up being member of Generation Z, depending on how the youngest up-and-coming generation will be defined.

Just call them the iGen

They aren't even out of grade school. But already, people are trying to name the youngest up-and-coming generation, and figure out who they might be and how they might be different from their predecessors.

At a loss for something more original, many call them Generation Z, because they follow Generations X and Y.

They've also been referred to as Generation Net or "iGen," since they've never known a world without the Internet.

That's the one point most everyone can agree on — that they are the tech-savviest generation of all time, so much so that even toddlers can manoeuvre their way through YouTube and some first-graders are able to put together a PowerPoint presentation for class.

Most people agree it's just too early to know them for sure. But that hasn't stopped marketers from

Parents, too — many of them Gen Xers — are weighing in, saying they are raising a different brand of kid than baby boomers did.

"I would like to think that ideally, and this might be a bit naive, Gen Xers are a bit more freethinking and not necessarily as compelled to keep up with the Joneses," says Kris Sonnenberg, a teacher in Chicago and 38-year-old mother of three children, ages 8, 12 and 17.

Crisis not over: Carney

ECONOMY While the European debt crisis has only had a "modest" impact on Canada, the crisis isn't over and all governments need to be on healthy fiscal paths, Bank of Canada governor Mark Carney said Thursday.

"So there's been a modest impact on financial conditions — a slight tightening of financial conditions in Canada — and a modest impact on commodity prices," Carney said at a news conference.

"But it's not over," he said, adding that it is "incredibly important" to execute the right policies to deal with the situation.

The head of Canada's largely independent central bank has been providing similar advice to policymakers for months. His latest speech comes as Canada prepares to play host to G20 and G8 meetings from June 25 to 27, when the world's financial system will be among the main topics.

Carney said he's encouraged with the measures that European policymakers have taken so far "but I don't think anybody is of the view that more will not be required."

BMO Capital Markets senior economist Michael Gregory said Carney's remarks suggest the Bank of Canada has room to raise its key rates in July — following a quarter-point hike this month.

The central bank's policy rate had been set at an all-time low of 0.25 per cent last year as a means to ease the cost of borrowing in order to stimulate the economy. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Transat opens in Mexico

TRAVEL Travel company Transat A.T. Inc. is setting up shop in Mexico this summer but has no immediate plans to fly into the Canadian market until visa restrictions are eased.

In a couple of weeks, the Montreal-based company will begin operating in Monterrey under the Eleva Travel brand. It will cater to the two million Mexicans who travel in the summer months to several Mexican destinations as well as Las Vegas in the United States.

"This is exciting news as this is the first time in many years that we actually opened a new source market," president and CEO Jean-Marc Eustache said during a conference call Thursday.

"This market segment dovetails nicely with our existing business as we will gain critical mass in the summer with the hoteliers."

The program will begin small with the goal of servicing a few thousand customers. The Canadian market isn't on the flight plan for now because Ottawa slapped a visa requirement on Mexican tourists last year to curb bogus refugee claimants.

Earlier Thursday, Transat said intense competition and a strong Canadian dollar had a negative impact on its latest quarterly financial results.

N.B. releases invoices for cost of power talks

New Brunswick's Liberal government has released the detailed invoices for the cost of the failed talks to sell NB Power to Hydro-Quebec.

The documents obtained by The Canadian Press under the Right to Information Act break down the $8 million in costs the government says it spent on legal, technical and communications services.

According to the documents, the plan to sell the utility, and a later revised plan to sell most major assets, was code-named Project Penelope.

Finance Minister Greg Byrne says that was just an arbitrary label given by a Montreal law firm.

Conservative Opposition member Jody Carr says the documents still don't show the true cost of the negotiations, which he estimates at close to $30 million.

He says the documents don't show the cost of trips by the premier, energy minister or NB Power staff, or the work of government lawyers and civil servants.

Muhammad retiring

Muhsin Muhammad, left, is retiring from the NFL after spending 11 of his 14 seasons with the Carolina Panthers. The 37-year-old receiver was Carolina's second-round pick in 1996 and made the Pro Bowl three years later. He later served as a complement to Steve Smith on Carolina's Super Bowl team in the 2003 season.

Hawks' mission accomplished

From the first day of training camp nine months ago, the Chicago Blackhawks felt the expectations. They were everywhere, generated by championship-hungry fans and by the players themselves.

"We want to win the Stanley Cup. I think that's what a lot of the guys are thinking," Patrick Kane said after that first practice on a steamy September day.

The Blackhawks, led by the 21-year-old Kane and their 22-year-old captain Jonathan Toews, made it happen.

Now they will parade with their teammates Friday through a city that is giddy because the Blackhawks have seized the Cup for the first time since 1961.

When Kane was taken with the first pick in the draft three years ago, it started the Blackhawks on their way to a remarkable rebirth. A year earlier they had chosen Toews in the first round and now they have become the faces of the franchise both on and off the ice.

At such a young age, they have won the Cup and done so in a short amount of time, accomplishing what some never do throughout their careers.

United Center, which four years ago was half-empty, now rocks and the Chicago Blackhawks captain Jonathan Toews salutes after the Blackhawks defeated the Philadelphia Flyers 4-3 in overtime Wednesday to win the Stanley Cup at the Wachovia Center in Philadelphia.

Blackhawks are one of the hottest tickets in town, a re-emergence that can be attributed to the efforts of owner Rocky Wirtz and his president John McDonough, who was hired away from the Chicago Cubs.

Kane finally ended the championship drought — the longest active one in the NHL — with a game-winning goal in overtime against the Flyers.

What an end to a whirlwind year for both Kane and Toews, who signed lucrative contract extensions with the Blackhawks in December — five-year deals worth $31.5 million US each.

NFL A contrite Ben Roethlisberger said he got caught up in being a caricature called Big Ben, not the grounded player and person he once was, leading to his off-field problems and affecting his play as the Steelers quarterback. In his first detailed interviews since a Georgia college student accused him of sexually assaulting her in a nightclub bathroom March 5, Roethlisberger told Pittsburgh TV stations KDKA and WTAE that he doesn't have an alcohol problem.

Big Baby leads Celtics to win over Lakers, tying series at 2

(Series tied 2-2)

Lakers 89 Celtics 96

NBA The Boston Celtics have tied up the NBA finals, and they owe it more to "Big Baby" than the Big Three.

Backup Glen (Big Baby) Davis scored half of his 18 points in the fourth quarter, leading the Celtics bench as Boston pulled away from the Los Angeles Lakers to win 96-89 on Thursday night and even the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

Game 5 is Sunday night in Boston. The Celtics' win guaranteed them a trip back to Los Angeles and averted a 3-1 deficit that has never been overcome in NBA finals history.

Kobe Bryant scored 33 points and Pau Gasol had 21 for the Lakers.

Paul Pierce scored 19 points, Kevin Garnett had 13 and Ray Allen bounced back from a seven-quarter shooting slump to score 12 points for Boston.

But the new Big Three that led the Celtics to their 17th NBA title in 2008 — beating the Lakers in the finals — was on the bench for much of the fourth-quarter run that gave Boston the lead for good.

UFC more exciting than hockey: White

MMA Not noted for his shyness, Dana White didn't hesitate to make a brash prediction about what's in store for Vancouver fans at Saturday's UFC 115.

"It's the most exciting live sporting event you will ever see," the UFC president told a news conference Thursday. "Even more exciting than hockey."

More exciting than hockey? Those could be fighting words.

"We're already bigger than hockey," chuckled White, who showed up wearing an NHL Vancouver Canucks sweatshirt. "I made an even bolder prediction than that. I said it (UFC) would be even bigger than soccer."

"I think people here are going to love hockey and

Welcome the greatest show on Earth

The beautiful game is ready to grab the planet's attention as the World Cup quest commences

Field of Play

Scott Russell

metronews.ca/fieldofplay

The World Cup stands alone. There is no need to qualify the title of this tournament with FIFA, (the governing body of international soccer), or to identify what sport we're talking about in the first place.

We all get it. Having been to South Africa, I can assure you that regardless of circumstance, everyone plays. The rich and the poor, boys and girls, Zulu and Xhosa — they all chase the globe-like ball on lush green fields or in dusty streets that weave through the shanties of devastated townships.

Soccer is the world's game.

Now the greatest players from the far reaches of the Earth have gathered for the first time on the African continent. It's up to them to put on a show and become the embodiment of so many hopes and dreams. Only they are able to translate a cacophony of dialects into a common language that all of us can understand.

For a time, Wayne Rooney will be the lion of England, and Argentina will rely on the brilliance of Lionel Messi to write the next chapter in the history of that football-mad nation.

It's all about the players and how they reflect the fans.

As I

watch our two distinguished analysts do "kick about" on the fancy television set that's been built at the CBC, I understand the World Cup is everything.

Jason de Vos, the former captain of Canada, took his team to a Gold Cup victory in 2000. He still juggles the ball deftly but he's feeling an overwhelming emotion. "Envy," de Vos says. "I would love to be in their shoes. That's what it's all about — to pull on your country's jersey and compete at the World Cup. That's why I started playing as a seven-year-old. Unfortunately, I never got that chance."

But John Collins did. The smallish striker for Scotland scored against Brazil at the 1998 World Cup in France.

"You know you are representing your country," Collins says in a thick brogue.

"You know the whole nation is watching on television. Life comes to a standstill."

The world will be watching and in a multicultural country like Canada there are not one but 32 teams to mirror our fortunes.

The G20 summit can't come close to this.

The World Cup is, hands down, the greatest show on Earth.

Gemini Award winner and author Scott Russell is the host of CBC Sports Weekend seen Saturday afternoons. A 20-year CBC Sports veteran, he has covered a variety of professional and amateur sports including nine Olympic games and numerous world championships.

Burning questions abound as CFL season draws closer

CFLExtraPoints

Dan Toth

metronews.ca/sports

CFL training camps kick off a six-month adventure for the eight-team circuit, when jobs are won and lost, dreams dashed and careers launched en route to the Grey Cup game. Here are the burning questions each club will have to answer in 2010:

TORONTO ARGONAUTS: The focus in Toronto is squarely on the quarterback, or more specifically, the lack of one. The Argos, under new head coach Jim Barker, released Kerry Joseph and Cody Pickett, leaving relative unknowns Dalton Bell, Cleo Lemon and Ken Dorsey to fight for the starting job.

HAMILTON TIGER-CATS:

The Tiger-Cats smashed their piggy bank in the off-season to sign free-agent placekicker Sandro DeAngelis, a three-time all-star in Calgary. He's one of the most reliable kickers in CFL history, but will the combination of a hefty contract and home-province pressure be too much for the Niagara Falls native to handle?

MONTREAL ALOUETTES:

The Alouettes were the CFL's best team in 2009, setting a club record for wins in a season and claiming the Grey Cup.

Will 2010 be the year veteran QB Anthony Calvillo, who turns 38 this season, finally begins to show his age on a team that has yet to develop a solid backup?

WINNIPEG BLUE BOMBERS: The Bombers have two new QBs in Buck Pierce and Steven Jyles fighting for the starting role. Pierce might have the edge, but a history of concussions will have Bomber fans wondering if he can provide a long-term solution in Winnipeg.

CALGARY STAMPEDERS:

The Stamps witnessed several off-season departures, leaving some interesting battles along the offensive line. Jeff Pilon and Jesse Newman retired while Dimitri Tsoumpas jumped ship for the NFL. Can the Stamps find three new starters to protect QB Henry Burris?

SASKATCHEWAN ROUGHRIDERS:

Former Riders GM Eric Tillman is legendary for finding first-rate talent to replace injured stars. Will his successor, GM Brendan Taman, be on the hot seat to replace defensive linemen Stevie Baggs and John Chick, lost to the NFL, and a reliable backup QB?

B.C. LIONS:

Former CFL MVP Casey Printers will once again take over the No. 1 QB job in Vancouver ahead of Jarious Jackson. Only question is, after stints in the NFL and Hamilton, can Printers recapture the magic of 2004 when he passed for more than 5,000 yards with the Leos?

EDMONTON ESKIMOS:

The Eskimos fielded the CFL's most porous pass defence last season, forcing the team to revamp its secondary. Will the Eskis adapt to those multiple changes to defend against the pass-happy offences of the West Division?

Dan Toth has been covering the CFL for more than a decade and is a lifelong fan of Canadian football.

FIFA World Cup

What's in a name?

MATTHEW ROMANADA
Metro Canada

There are 32 countries competing in the World Cup, but there are more than 250 countries in the world. That means millions of people will have to figure out another way to choose their team.

For many Canadians, it's easy to adopt another nation for the next 30 days because of our diverse heritage. Some may have parents that came from England, or immigrated from Nigeria, while others will root for Argentina because of the brilliant Lionel Messi. For those of us still undecided, why not look to the team's nicknames for inspiration?

The nicknames for all the World Cup participants can be split into four groups: Colours; animals; historical/national roots; and boring. The latter category will be ignored for obvious reasons.

Colours

Most of the colour-based nicknames are pretty lame, but a few stand out. The top of the crop in this category are Mexico (El Tri — the three-coloured), Netherlands (Oranje) and Italy (Azzurri — azure blue). The worst, for politically correct reasons, has to be New Zealand (All Whites).

Fans celebrate after Australia's Socceroos won a match against New Zealand's All Whites on May 24 in Melbourne.

Historical/National Roots:

There's a real mixed bag here. Japan (Samurai Blue) and South Korea (Taeguk Warriors) represent Asia well. The U.S., which goes by either The Yanks or The Stars and Stripes, disappoints with a lack of creativity. Denmark (Olsen's Eleven) and Honduras (Los Catrachos) are worthy of further investigation.

Animals:

This is where the good stuff is and the host continent Africa really shines. Algeria (Desert Foxes), Cote d'Ivoire (Elephants), Nigeria (Super Eagles) are all solid contenders, but Cameroon (Indomitable Lions) stands out. A match between it and England (The Three Lions) would be fun. The other interesting teams in this category are Australia (Socceroos) and Serbia (White Eagles).

I'm going to go with Spain (La Furia Roja — The Red Fury), which just rolls off the tongue. Plus my last name is Spanish — even if I'm only 1/8 Spanish myself — and it never hurts to back a contender.

In case you are wondering, Canada's most used nickname is Les Rouges (The Reds).

Perhaps if we came up with a better nickname we could inspire our troops to qualify for the next World Cup.

AUSTRALIA Australia pulled out of the race to host the 2018 World Cup Thursday and will instead focus on the 2022 tournament. The announcement by FIFA and the Football Federation Australia leaves the United States running against four European bids for the 2018 tournament.

ITALY Italy midfielder Andrea Pirlo has had another medical test on his injured left calf and the results appear positive. Team physician Enrico Castellacci described the outcome of Thursday's MRI as "encouraging."

Micmacs pure bliss

Micmacs

Director: Jean-Pierre Jeunet

Rating: ★★★★★

PHIL BROWN
for Metro Canada

Amelie director returns with the oddball Micmacs.

In 1979 a soldier is blown up on a sand dune by a landmine. He leaves behind a son who grows up to be a movie obsessive working at a video store. One day a bizarre drive-by shooting leaves him with a bullet permanently lodged in his head.

He soon realizes that the weapon manufacturers that produced the mine and the bullet are located across the street from each other and plots his revenge.

That set up doesn't suggest the movie is a whimsical French comedy, but in the mind of the ingenious director Jean-Pierre Jeunet this leads to a story in which that man befriends a surreal group of garbage-dump-dwelling eccentrics who help him take down the arms dealers.

The team includes a human cannonball, a borderline autistic math genius, and an old man who can make art and complicated devices out of salvaged trash.

Micmacs feels like a loveletter to movies from director Jean-Pierre Jeunet, combining the pitch black humour and dark subject matter of his early work like Delicatessen with the light-hearted romantic whimsy he employed in Amelie.

Jeunet started out as a cartoonist and Micmacs feels like a live-action cartoon, filled with expressive cinematography and stylized art direction that bares favourable comparison to the works of Tim Burton or Terry Gilliam.

The movie won't be for everyone as the mix of dark subject matter and slapstick comedy will inevitably annoy as much as it enthralls.

But those in tune with Jeunet's unique sensibility will find countless reasons to rewatch the film endlessly.

Threequel keeps standards high, Pixar mascot says

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

Over the past 15 years, Pixar has produced 11 films, starting with 1995's Toy Story. And John Ratzenberger has lent his voice for all of them.

The aptly dubbed Pixar mascot, Ratzenberger is back for Toy Story 3, reprising his role as Hamm the Piggy Bank.

"For me it's proof that God exists," Ratzenberger tells Metro about his tenure with the animation studio. "Because it's beyond my thinking of how this happened."

While the folks at Pixar are obviously fans of Ratzenberger, the actor insists the feeling is mutual. "The reason that Pixar is so good is because the standard started out extremely high and it stayed there," he explains.

"They didn't get lazy or get full of themselves or say, 'Let's just kick this one out because we can.' They put the same amount of energy and craft into every one of their films. So they keep the standard high, and

NED EHRBAR
 Metro World News

As catchphrases go, "I love it when a plan comes together" is a particular 1980s standout.

But fans of the TV series The A-Team might find the new big-screen adaptation a little frustrating. While Hannibal (Liam Neeson, stepping into George Peppard's humidor) talks incessantly about plans and the importance of having them and executing them, he never actually utters the famous line.

And it's not like he doesn't have the opportunity, as this action movie has an overabundance of talk. It's too much plan, and not enough coming together. Or as Mr. T would say,

"Quit your jibber jabber!"

Along with Neeson's Hannibal, the A-Team gets a decent upgrade with its casting. The 21st century versions of Face (Bradley Cooper), Murdoch (Sharlto Copley) and B.A. Baracus (Quinton "Rampage" Jackson) work well, with Jackson the weakest link — and somehow not very threatening, considering his Ultimate Fighting Championship background. Copley, though, is a standout, diving into the craziness of Murdoch with vigour.

As is fitting with a big, loud summer movie, the action sequences are spectacular, including a truck heist on the streets of Baghdad and a massive stunt involving a tank, a parachute and the fast-approaching ground.

These set-pieces are where the film really comes alive. It's just that there's too much talking between them.

And a lot of that talk is recapping plot points or flashing back to earlier scenes, a sign the filmmakers don't trust their audience to keep up.

Young Smith kicks it up

The Karate Kid

Classification: PG
Rating: ⓂⓂⓂ

RICHARD CROUSE
 for Metro Canada

REVIEW To anyone alive in the 1980s, the Karate Kid legend is a familiar one. In this reboot, Jaden Smith (son of Will and Jada) stars in the role Ralph Macchio made a Reagan era icon.

The story's been freshened by a move to Beijing but the filmmakers wisely kept the underdog coming-of-age tale front and centre.

Smith plays Dre, a cocky 12-year-old recession victim. "There's nothing left for us in Detroit," says his mother (Taraji P. Henson) as they pack up and move so she can take a job at a Beijing car factory. There Dre is an outsider, experiencing clashes, both cultural and personal.

Falling for a pretty classmate (Wenwen Han) he runs afoul of schoolyard bully Cheng (Zhenwei Wang) who opens up a 40-ounce can of Bruce Lee on the newcomer. Alone and bruised Dre befriends maintenance man and kung fu master Mr. Han (Jackie Chan) who becomes the Yoda to Dre's Jedi. Han educates his pupil on the discipline of kung fu — there's no actual karate in the movie! — while Dre teaches his master a thing or two about real courage.

Smith is the film's centerpiece. He's clearly still a novice, but has inherited the best bits of his mother and father's collective gene pools (he got his mother's ears! Yay!) and has charisma to burn. He's not going to win an Academy Award for this one, but he capably carries a great deal of the movie on his 12-year-old back. He's ably assisted by co-star Jackie Chan, who after truly awful, The Spy Next Door brings warmth and personality to Mr. Han.

Cruz's breakout year

NICK KREWEN
for Metro Canada

Nobody can deny that with his global chart-topping dance pop smash Break Your Heart, the invigorating new single Dynamite and a hot selling album with Rokstarr, Taio Cruz is enjoying a breakout year.

But the London, U.K.-based Cruz — born Adeyayo Ayowale Onile-Ere — comes by much of his production pedigree from America. In his early 20s, he apprenticed with producers Chris “Tricky” Stewart (Rihanna, Beyoncé, Britney) and Rich Harrison (Beyoncé, Alicia Keys) in Atlanta.

“I’m an information sponge — I like to learn from people who know a lot more than I do, and then try to apply it to what it is that I do,” Cruz told Metro during a promotional stop in Toronto this week. “I was very excited to work with Tricky and all those guys because they’re amazing and have made so many hit records. I wanted to learn production tips and songwriting techniques and other bits and pieces. I honed my skills.”

Cruz, 27, whom Universal Music Canada reports has sold more than 160,000 copies of Rokstarr here, says his U.K. musical pals had some interesting ideas about U.S. pop music.

“Everyone had this idea that American music used some sort of magic dust to make it sound so good,” he chuckles. “Some of my friends thought it was the current, because the electricity standard is different in America and it affects the sound waves.”

“I learned that the reason the music sounds so good is that they use the best of everything. They’re not afraid to spend money.”

Cruz almost scored another bonus working with Tricky: He was there when Terius “The Dream” Nash wrote Rihanna’s No. 1 smash Umbrella and actually recorded one of the song’s very first demos.

“I thought it was an amazing song,” Cruz recalls. “I really wanted to release it, but as you do as a songwriter, you send it out to various people and loads of different artists, and Jay-Z loved it for Rihanna. The rest is history.”

Miserable sales signal end of CDs

SoundCheck

Alan Cross

Here’s a prediction: Years from now, historians will point to the late spring of 2010 as the time when physical sales of music entered the terminal stage of its illness. Here’s why.

Album sales collapsed catastrophically in May. For the week ending May 30, only 4,984,000 albums were sold in all of America. That’s new releases AND catalogue titles sold by everyone from Wal-Mart on down. It’s estimated that sales haven’t sucked this much since sometime in the 1970s. Compare that to the good ol’ days of December 2000 when 45.4 million albums moved out of stores in a single week.

It’s been a perfect storm, really. A lack of major releases combined with increasing interest in a la carte digital sales (i.e. a preference to buy individual songs rather than full albums) has created a negative vector.

And although we may see seasonal spikes in physical album sales for a few years, there are other things conspiring to kill off the CD.

Improved streaming services to mobile devices: With the introduction of multi-tasking in version 4.0 of the iPhone/iPad software this week, it’ll soon be possible to listen to services like Pandora (well, for Americans, anyway) or radio tuner apps (at least we can do that) in the background while doing something else.

Online services that allow you to store music on your device: Spotify, Slacker and the new Rdio (brought to you by the same people who gave us Skype and Kazaa) now allow subscribers to cache music. That means users can listen to songs without having to connect to the Internet. Too bad Canadians are still being shut out of this technology.

Music consumption habits of young people: There’s an entire generation that has built their media lives around computers, MP3 players and smart phones. Technology makes it possible for them to access virtually any song anytime they want it from wherever they are. Why do they need to physically possess the music?

Hayes to host Tonies

When Sean Hayes hosts the Tony Awards Sunday, he'll join an exclusive club of performers who were nominated for prizes the same year they hosted.

Hayes, who is up for leading actor in a musical for his portrayal of Chuck Baxter in a revival of Promises, Promises doesn't seem too nervous with double-duty looming.

"Since I'm hosting, it kind of takes the pressure off," he says. "I'll be focusing on moving the evening along and making it fun and interesting."

Historically, the Tony-nominated host has fared pretty well. Hugh Jackman brought home a trophy for lead actor in a musical in 2004 for The Boy From Oz. And Nathan Lane won twice while at the helm: In 1996, and in 2001.

Hayes, who starred in TV's Will and Grace, will participate in the show's grand opening number with his Promises, Promises castmates before assuming emcee duties. "I just want to provide an entertaining show," he said.

While viewers can expect numbers from the Tony-nominated musicals and revivals, there will also be performances by Green Day, and stars from the Fox show, Glee.

A Tony Award would go nicely with Hayes' other honours: His portrayal of Jack McFarland on Will and Grace earned him four Screen Actors Guild Awards, an Emmy, and six Emmy and seven Golden Globe nominations each.

Metro's 7th Heaven: Metro taps what's hot right now

1 World Cup Soccer

SPORTS One of the most popular sports returns, and this time South Africa is hosting the world's best soccer, um, football players. The FIFA World Cup Trophy, which is handed out once every four years, is one of the most desired in sports.

2 The Bearded Gentleman

BOOKS With summer vacations here, why not cut back on the shaving and learn to style your facial hair? This book provides tips on how to avoid some of the nasties — like in-grown hairs — and how to achieve a groomed look if you do decide to sprout some whiskers.

3 Youth in Revolt

DVD Everyone's favourite Canadian actor, Michael Cera, hits the video store shelves with Youth in Revolt on Tuesday. Cera plays Nick Twisp, who creates an alter ego to help him win over the ladies.

4 Lady Gaga's Alejandro

MUSIC Launched at noon last Tuesday, Gaga's newest video became the top trending topic in Canada — if not the world. There was so much Twittering about the video — it sounds like a cross between Ace of Bass and Madonna, with a futuristic Vogue look — it crashed the website. Visit metronews.ca/columns to see it.

5 Love at First Bite

COOKING Now you can eat like the characters in the hit book and movie series — well, at least the ones who do eat. This unofficial Twilight cookbook offers easy, medium and hard skill level recipes so cooks of all ages can create gastronomical creations like Harry's Famous Fish Fry, Wolf Pack Waffles and Edward's Cornflake Chicken.

6 Skinny Cargo

FASHION Tired of the skinny jean trends? Then you're in luck — now it's skinny cargo. Instead of having to worry about two pockets adding bulk to your frame, now there are multiple pockets to contend with.

7 Morrissey, Soothsayer?

POP CULTURE Did the former Smith's member predict the death of Princess Diana? Well, one person with a lot of time on his hands thinks so. This YouTube video lays out the interesting connection between the singer, the princess and music. Is it true? Who knows. Visit metronews.ca/columns to see it.

Lohan mulling Apprentice bid

MAYBE SHE'S ALSO ADDICTED TO GETTING FIRED Despite her recent troubles, Lindsay Lohan may have at least one new job offer on the table, and this one comes from Donald Trump.

The mogul is looking to include Lohan in the next season of his Celebrity Apprentice reality show, according to Page Six. "Donald is a friend of the family, and producers of Celebrity Apprentice have approached Lindsay to appear in the next season," her mom, Dina Lohan, says.

"She's deciding if she wants to do it or not, but she currently has three films in production, so she's very busy."

EXCEPT JENNIFER ACTUALLY THOUGHT SHE WAS MEETING AN OOMPA LOOMPA Being on a popular reality TV show has its privileges, and one of them is getting to meet your idols, as Jersey Shore star Nicole "Snooki" Polizzi learned recently when she and her fellow cast-members got the chance to hang out with Jennifer Aniston. "She is so beautiful and so nice in person. That's honestly the first time I got starstruck," Polizzi tells Us Weekly. "I was hoping she would know who I was, but I don't think so. I said, 'Hi, I'm Snooki, I'm a really big fan and you are gorgeous.' She said, 'Thank you.' She was so polite. I was scared to even talk! I was nervous."

Board wants MJ doc's license

PUSH HARDER, PLEASE California's medical board has again asked a judge to suspend the license of the doctor charged in Michael Jackson's death.

The state attorney general's office argued in a brief filed Monday that the current prohibition against Dr. Conrad Murray using anesthetics is insufficient.

"While the defendant asserts that he will not practice in California, there is no legal bar to him changing his mind and engaging in practice in this state," the filing states.

Zellweger was spotted spending two hours browsing at the Caroline Herrera boutique in West Hollywood with racks of wedding dresses nearby, and she ended up leaving with garment bag over her arm. "She just kept smiling when asked if she's getting married," a source says. To top that off, she and Cooper were spotted in New York days later taking her parents to lunch.
